THE

BOSTON ALMANAC

FOR THE YEAR

1846.

BY S. N. DICKINSON.

BOSTON:

PUBLISHED BY THOMAS GROOM & CO. STATIONERS' HALL, 82 STATE STREET.

Printed by Samuel N. Dickinson & Company, 52 Washington Street.

PREFACE.

Well, 'eighteen hundred and forty-five' was a busy year-Old Time' kept his big wheel moving, turning up many 'remarkable events' - 'annexing' kingdoms and lovers giving fortunes to some, and poverty to others - now turning up a 'water project,' now a 'mill site and privilege,' now a 'copper,' or 'lead,' or 'silver mine,' and then a 'speculation in railroad iron,' the 'potatoe rot,' or 'Cassius M. Clay and a Kentucky mob,' &c. &c. and, at its very last revolution, threw out The Boston Almanac for 1846! Here it is, wind and weather, fire and storm, business men and business things, railroads, steamboats, packets, stages, maps, rivers, lakes, and all the transactions in, on, and about them, compact, lucid, full, 'multum in parvo,' all for 25 cents. What a wonder! Our astronomical calculations are 'all correct,' and our list of 'events' cannot but be in a healthy state, having been in the hands of one of the best physicians, who has taken special care to put them in 'good case' to be 'seen in print.' Then our Railroad Map is a 'new thing under the sun.' No matter where you are, or where you wish to be, you can 'find your position,' 'distances,' and 'bearings,' all by this said Railroad Our Business Directory comes out 'improved and enlarged,' and will now direct you to more kinds of business than ever before. Boston is a great place, but we think our little Almanac will tell you pretty nearly all that is done in it. Let this suffice for a preface. Now to the subject matter, and see if the half has been told you.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the Year 1845, by SAMUEL N. DICKINSON,

In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the District of Messachusetts.

RICHTA BOSTON A IMANAC, SIT

RAILROADS DIVERGING FROM BOSTON.

WE have had prepared, at considerable expense, for the present number of the Boston Almanac, a Diagram of the Railroads diverging from Boston, which shows at a glance the courses and distances of the several routes. By these different lines of railway, intersecting our ancient Commonwealth in various directions, and extending far into the neighboring States, the riches of the agricultural, manufacturing, mineral, and other productions of the East, the North, the South, and even the far West, are noured into Boston. The whole State is brought so near within our reach that it may be, without exaggeration, termed the suburbs of the city. The farthest boundary of Berkshire is but ten hours from us, and the people of Buffalo are our neighbors. When the roads now in contemplation are completed. New England will all be brought within a day's ride of our metropolis, and all our old notions of distance and time will undergo a change. The influence upon the wealth and prosperity of Boston must be beyond calculation, and must surpass any but the most vivid imagination to conceive.

The Boston and Wordster Raliboad, taken in connection with the Western Railboad, may be considered the back bone of the frame of Railroads in Massachusetts. It starts from the corner of Beach and Lincoln streets, near the United States Hotel, in Boston, and extends through Worcester and Springfield, and the rich interior and western sections of the State, to West Stockbridge on the western boundary, 162 miles, and continues on to Chetham in New York, where one branch continues on to Greenbush, opposite Albany, 200 miles from Boston, and the Hudson Railroad extends to the town of Hudson, 133 miles from Boston. From this road other routes branch off in different directions.

The NORWICH RAILROAD leaves it at Worcester, and runs 66 miles in a southerly direction, where it unites with a ferry of 30 miles, joining the Long Island Road, 95 miles long, reaching to Brooklyn, opposite N. York-

The HARTFORD RAILROAD starts from Springfield, and runs southerly through a rich and beautiful country, by Hartford to N. Haven, 62 miles.

The HOUSATONIC RAILROAD starts from West Stockbridge, and runs south 95 miles to Bridgeport, on Long Island Sound.

The BRATTLEBORO' RAILROAD is expected to start from Springfield. and run north, up the fertile and picturesque valley of the Connecticut. and allow the riches of that section to flow in an abundant current to our city.

The EASTERN RAILROAD, which terminates at East Boston in a ferry. uniting that place with Boston, at Lewis wharf, runs through Salem and Newburyport, sending off branches by the way to Marblehead and Gloucester, and passes through Portsmouth, N. H., to Portland, Me., a distance of 105 miles.

The MAINE RAILROAD runs from Haymarket square, in Boston through Andover and Haverhill, in this State, and Exeter and Dover, in New Hampshire, and joins with the Eastern Road at South Berwick, Me., 71 miles from Boston.

The PROVIDENCE RAILROAD, leaves Boston on Pleasant street, near the southern extremity of the common, and, uniting with the Stonington route at Providence, extends to Stonington, making 90 miles in all, where a steamboat ferry of 30 miles connects it with the Long Island train.

THE NEW BEDFORD RAILROAD branches off from the Providence Road at Mansfield, and runs 31 miles to New Bedford, and sends off, on the way, another branch to Fall River.

The PLYMOUTH RAILROAD unites the Old Colony with Boston, by a line 37 miles in length, the terminus being at present at South Boston; but as soon as the bridge for that purpose can be completed, it is to be brought to the depot of the Boston and Worcester Railroad.

The FITCHBURG RAILROAD starts from Charlestown, just across Charles River, and already reaches 50 miles from Boston. This road it is in contemplation to extend through the southwestern part of New Hampshire. and the centre of Vermont, to Burlington on Lake Champlain. The Concord Road and the Brattleboro Road will also send off branches in the same direction; and a charter is obtained, and will, without doubt, be speedily carried into effect, for a railroad to Ogdensburgh, on the northwest boundary of New York, which will thus be brought into proximity, by connected lines of Railways, with Boston. The products of the far West, by the way of the great lakes, and the canals and railroads of Ohio, Michigan, and Illinois, will thus be enabled to pour into the capital of Massachusetts, and a large portion of that immense amount of freight which has heretofore sought an outlet at New York, by the way of the great Erie Canal, can find a better and speedier market at Boston. The Western province of Canada will also be brought within our reach, and we can supply the North and West with merchandise to a better advantage than can be done from any other source.

The LOWELL RAILROAD begins at the foot of Lowell street, and is 26 miles in length. It was afterwards extended 15 miles further, to Nashua, and two years ago still further to Concord, N. H., making 76 miles in the whole distance. From this place two routes are already projected, and will, doubtless, soon be built, one to Lebanon, then connecting with the Central Road in Vermont, which is to run through Montpelier to Lake Champlain, and the other through Plymouth to Haverhill, N. H., and perhaps to Montreal, in connection with the Brattleboro' route, which will meet with it at Haverhill. In fact, we can set no bounds to the extent of any of the railroads which radiate from Boston, except the limits of the land itself. Who can tell how soon we may see a railroad car whizzing through the wastes of Labrador, or astonishing the Esquimaux of the frozen north?

MISCELLANEOUS.

Last year we gave a short account of the Newspaper Press in Boston, and New England, with some estimates of the amount of capital invested, and the number of persons employed. This year it would afford an interesting theme to present a like view of the various descriptions of Book and Job Printing executed in the same district of country; but we have not the data for such an article. Undoubtedly the amount is very large, and the details would appear astonishing in comparison to what they were a few years since. Below we give some description of the extent and operations of our own offices, which will exhibit only a small part of this great branch of business, which will

THE OFFICE OF THE ROTARY PRESS covers an area of 14,283 square feet, embracing 15 rooms. It is lighted by day, by 1,654 squares of glass, set in 100 different windows; and by night, by gas shooting up from 100 different burners. In these premises we have I steam engine of ten-horse power, 3 Adams's power presses, 2 Napier presses, 3 ro-tary presses, 2 Ruggles's job presses, 11 hand presses, 2 copper-plate presses, 2 embossing presses, 1 hydraulic press, 4 standing presses, 1 small power press, 2 paper cutters, 3 card cutters, 1 ink mill, and 4 machines for shaving stereotype plates, two of which are moved by steam power. We have more than 400 different styles of types; borders, flowers and cuts of various sorts - in weight 30,000 pounds. are all held in their places by means of 866 type cases, 50 brass galleys, 200 feet standing galleys, 330 chases, and 3 bushels of quoins. have two large cisterns, which contain about 1,000 gallons, or upwards of 18 hogsheads of water. This is distributed through every part of the office, by means of 500 feet of lead pipe. We use six hogsheads of water per day, which, supposing it were brought in buckets, would take one man 131/2 hours each day to furnish, allowing him to bring four gallous every ten minutes. Our various presses throw off in the course of the year, six million, sixty-nine thousand, four hundred and eighty sheets of paper, or 12,645 reams. Supposing each sheet to be but 21/2 feet long, and that they were placed in one continuous line, they would stretch out to 15,173,700 feet, or nearly 2,875 miles, about the distance from here to Europe. It is computed that we have printed the past year 138,240,000 pages of books, 64,000 circulars, 25,000 commercial and lawyers' blanks, 20,000 bank checks, 50,000 billets, 500,000 billheads, 300,000 shop-bills and hand-bills, and 2,000,000 of labels. We have cut up, printed, embossed and sold 1,201,520 cards, or 24,030 packs. Our average consumption of coal is over 2 tons a week, or more than 100 tons a year. Besides our 100 gas burners, we use about 150 gallons of oil for extra lights and machinery. For our various printing it takes 1,200 pounds of ink per annum, besides gold leaf, bronze and size. In our type and streetype foundry, we have used the past year 50,000 pounds of metal, and turned out 7,000 stereotype plates, of various sizes and shapes. In our whole establishment, we employ usually about 100 hands, and it is safe to conclude that our office affords direct sustenance to at least 500 persons.

This view of the operations of a single Book and Job Printing Establishment in the metropolis of New England, will exhibit something of the growing demands of the country for this kind of labor. The great plan now of moving the public mind, is emphatically by reading. power of the Press was, perhaps, never greater than at this moment. Look at the impetus given to the circulation of what is generally denominated 'cheap publications;' but not only this, the facilities for printing are now so matured, that more formidable and ponderous volumes are thrown out with far greater ease and despatch, than were the lighter kinds of work only a few years since, when we 'beat the balls' and 'pulled' the Ramage press. The complete organization of expresses, and the cheap postage system, by which thousands of circulars are put upon the wing in every direction, advising the business community of the various changes and fluctuations in trade; the indomitable per-severance, ingenuity, and contrivance of the Yankee character, in bringing out its thousands of new manufactures, new inventions, &c.: the discovering of new resources of wealth, trade, and commerce; all call for an increased amount of printing, and this will probably be the case for many years to come. The manufacture of buttons, of pins, of tacks, of various descriptions of hardware, of blacking, and of medicines, calls for a vast amount of labels; and every shrewd inventor of a Yankee notion knows how much depends upon having his article ornamented with a neat wrapper or label. For the more delicate and finer kinds of perfumery, soaps, &c., no little expense and pains are taken to manufacture elaborate and highly wrought labels, in imitation of the English, French, or Italian. Look into the windows in Washington street, and see what a draft is there made upon the ingenuity of printers, engravers, and designers. Just so far, then, as any enterprising printer can answer these demands, the imported label will be neglected, and a substitute found at home. We are often called upon to furnish some highly wrought and finished label, for some exquisitely nice fabric or compound either of foreign or home manufacture. have said that the great plan of moving and swaying the public mind was by reading. This is obvious to the most casual observer. Look at the public journals, and see the efforts there made by every class of business men to have their trade or calling favorably noticed, either by the editorial puff, or the flaring advertisement. Look at the corners of our streets, and there you will find almost every trade and business advertised in such bold and staring characters, that literally 'he who mus may read.' Count, if it be possible, the minds affected by the millions of handbills, circulars, cards, and billets which our single office alone has thrown off the past year. What then should be our reflections upon this vast business, called forth by the demands of our growing and prosperous country. Two things, we think, are obvious:—gratitude, that our institutions and the business habits of our people have not been broken up by foreign wars or internal dissensions; and, second, an increasing desire to go forward in our humble sphere, providing for the future demands of the ingenuity and skill of our patrons.

water to the Indians, without license.

7th month ensuing.

Twenty-sixth of the 7th month, 1637. Mr. John Coggeshall affirming that Mr. Wheelwright is innocent, and that he was persecuted for the truth, was in like sort dismissed from being a member of the Court, and order was given that two new Deputies be chosen by the town of Boston.

It is ordered, also, that no person shall sell any cakes or buns, either in the market or victualling houses, or elsewhere, upon pain of ten shillings fine; provided, that this order shall not extend to such cakes as shall be made for any burial or marriage, or such like special occa-

fore his releasement.

Whereas, a letter was sent to this Court, subscribed by John Green, whereas, a fent was sent to this Court, subscribed by John Green, dated from New Providence, and brought by one of that company, wherein the Court is charged with usurping the power of Christ over the churches and men's consciences, notwithstanding he had formerly acknowledged his fault in such speeches, by him before used, it is now ordered, that the said John Green shall not come into this jurisdiction upon pain of imprisonment and further censure; and because it appears to this Court that some other of the same place are confident in the same corrupt judgment and practice. It is ordered, that if any other of the inhabitants of the said Plantation of Providence, shall come within this jurisdiction, they shall be apprehended and brought before some of the Magistrates, and if they will not disclaim the same corrupt opinions and censure they shall be presently to depart, and if such persons shall be found within this jurisdiction, they shall be imprisoned and punished as the Court shall see cause.

goods.

Lawrence Waters's wife was enjoined to give John Finch 18d., and Nico Theal to give John Finch 18s., and Edward Lamb to give him 2s., and Lamb was fined 15s. 6d. for his contempt, and all of them were admonished to avoid dancing.

The town of Lynn is fined 20s., and enjoined to mend their ways before next Court.

a child was drowned.

Catherine, the wife of Samuel Finch, being accused for speaking against the Magistrates, against the churches and against the elders, was censured to be whipped, and committed till the General Court.

Mr. William Foster appearing, was informed that we conceive him not fit to live with us; therefore he was wished to depart before the General Court, March next.

Francis Weston's wife was censured to be set two hours in the bil-boes here, and two hours at Salem, upon a lecture day.

Intimation to be given to the elders of each church of the desire of the Court to keep the last Thursday of the 5th month a day of thanks-giving, for the safe coming of so many ships, this year and in the spring, and now to ripen the harvest.

Fourth day of the 10th month, 1638. Robert Shorthose was committed for saying, if the Magistrate had anything to say to him, he might come to him. He was released, binding himself in 20 pounds to appear at the next Court, and to be of good behavior the mean time.

J. W. PLIMPTON. A. PLIMPTON. J. H. STEPHENSON. TMBOSSED CARDS, spectfully invite public attention to a few considerations showing the SUPERIORITY of their EMBOSSED CARDS OVER all others of American manufacture.

IST. THE STOCK IS BETTER. While other manufacturers are embossing a soft, dull, dead-looking article, or if the enamel be bright, the refuse of better stock, known as 2d, 3d, or 4t quality,—we emboss none except it be of FIRST RATE QUALITY—the enamel is tough, bright, and hard, suited either for the stile or letter press. This is an important particular, and we give it special attention.

2d. OUR EMBOSSING IS BETTER DONE. In the language of the Report of the last Mechanics' Fair, 'the embossing is always brought up full and sharp, delineating every line of the engraver.' This cannot be said of other cards which we have seen, many of which we have seen, many of them being so poorly embossed as to leave the figures almost undefinable; and still, such are offered and sold as embossed cards! 3d. OUR VARIETY IS LARGER.

An outlay exceeding five thousand dollars enables us to present to the purchaser a larger variety of patterns than can be found at any other place. Scarcely any oceasion occurs for which an embellished eard is wanted, which cannot be appropriately supplied from our samples.

4th. THE FIGURES ARE MORE ELABORATE, CHASTE, AND BEAUTIFUL. This will be seen at once by a comparison of the cards. We have from the first employed skilful artists, engravers, designers, &c., and our plates are not the ephemeral work of a day, but have all been wrought out by patient industry, skill, and perseverance.

5th. THEY ARE CHEAPER, intrinsically considered; not that we offer our best stock and perfect workmanship at a less price than the forced barter sales and truckling of pedlars; but that we give a better equivalent for the money, none pretend to deny. We are sometimes told that the public, as a general thing, do not know the difference between a handsome well-executed eard and an indifferent one, and hence will give as much for one as for the other. Let buyers always inquire for Dickinson's cards, and if they get them, they will be sure to get a good artiele.

We thought it due to the public and due to ourselves to make this 'fair statement of reasons' why those who are interested should 'choose the good, and cast the bad away.' We say it here, we say it every where, we know of no eards embossed in this country equal to those we offer to the community.

Being in situations where they use large quantities of Blacking, they have tried the different kinds in the market, and for beauty and durability of polish, and the softness which it gives to the leather, they give Richards & Adams's the most decided preference.

NATIONAL LOAN FUND Life Assurance Society of London. (Empowered by Act of Parliament.) Capital, £500,000, or $2,500,000. Office in Boston, 12 Merchants' Exchange. The plan of the National Loan Fund Life Assurance Society joins together the two strongest of human motives, viz., Protection against the occurrence of casualties and reverses while living, and Provision for a family at death, and by this means gives the most powerful encouragement to lay up a proarising out of the premiums paid by the Assured, is made to fulfil two or more objects: first, the payment of the contract on the policy; secondly, a Loan Fund, out of which the assured for the whole term of one life will be entitled, under certain guarantees, to borrow equal to two thirds of his payments; thirdly, in event of inability to continue his payments, such equitable disposi-tion of his interests in his Policy will be allowed him as he may choose. By this means his apprehension of great pecuniary loss in the event of non-payment of premium will be removed; a vast class of society will thereby be admitted; and every individual, while steadily pursuing one object - a provision for his family at death - will have, by the plan of this society, a door open to his savings, which will never be closed against his wants or his use.

crosed against ins wants of his use, Profits. A Policy taken out in 1837, for £1,000 sterling, ($5,000,) on the life of a person aged 60, was, at the last annual Distribution of Profits, worth £191 13s. 5d.
